Everyone a winner on Mollyockett Day

It rained Friday. It rained Sunday. But Saturday was a sunny window of opportunity, and thousands of Mollyockett Day celebrants took advantage of Mother Nature's bounty and the community's summer spirit. For the more competitive, there were lots of opportunities to strut their

The first winner of the weekend was Ryan Coolidge, who landed the first fish in the Mollockett Day fishing contest, held Friday at Neil Olson's in East Bethel. Ryan's brother Jason won the prize for the biggest fish of the day. And the award for the best costume was shared by the Osh-Kosh trio, of Matthew, Shawn and Thaddeus Bennett.

The results of Saturday's Mollyockett Day Classic, one-mile and five-mile foot races organized by Bethel Chamber of Commerce, were as follows:

One mile, girls results: Overall winners: first place, Mary Jo Reed of Auburn, 7:13; second place, Jane Ippolito of Rumford Point, 7:21; third place, Amy Howe of Bethel, 7:22. Board resuscitates

BY MICHAEL DANIELS The SAD #44 Board of Directors has voted to once again consider approving a breath-test policy for the district. In April of last year the board debated at length the merits of such a policy, which would authorize the use of a breathalyzer to measure the alcohol content in the system of students suspected of drinking. recommended by the board's policy $1,600 missing committee, at the urging of Telstar administrators. On the last go-round, the board ultimately voted to reject the idea, but the vote was extremely close. In fact, the hand vote was tied, 8-8, but the majority of Bethel directors (whose votes are the most heavily weighted) voted against the policy and it was defeated. In the year and a half since that vote the make up of the board has changed, and the policy's most vocal opponent, Stan Howe of Bethel, is no longer on the board. Supt. Dewaine Craig said that to his knowledge no other district in the state

Unsold Eden Ridge condos set for foreclosure auction

By CHRISTY CROSS

The 10 unsold condominium units and two undeveloped condominium sites at Eden Ridge on Vernon Street will be offered for sale at a public auction Sunday, Aug. 19 at 2 p.m.

The auction is a bank foreclosure auction, according to C. Susan Mason of CSM Real Estate/Keenan Auction Company of Kingfield, which is conducting the sale.

Maine Savings Bank of Portland holds a note on the property. Mason said Monday the sale will be public and the property will be sold either in its entirety or piece-meal, to the highest bidder.

She said that in a foreclosure sale the bank has a right to bid. But she stressed that, "Most of our auctions go to new consumers." The foreclosure sale, she said, differs from an "absolute auction," in that in an absolute auction "the bank (or the owner) doesn't bid. Nobody can bid but the actual bidders." Avery Angevine of Bethel, vice

Rt. 2 shopping mall one step closer

By CHRISTY CROSS Two dozen people at a public hearing in Bethel last week on the proposed Twitchell Brook Mall raised questions ranging from the financial viability of the project, to traffic safety at the project's Route 2 entrance, to the impact of the project on the neighborhood. As planned, the mall will be built 300-400 feet off Route 2-east behind the former location of Telstar Video and will house a 10,000-square foot grocery store, a pharmacy, small bank branch, gift shop, video shop, florist shop and small sandwich shop, according to Tom DuBois, representing mail developer Dogan Associates of Portsmouth, N.H.

"What size is the grocery store" compared with the Bethel IGA, asked Phyllis Taylor of the Rostay Inn, also on Route 2.

About twice the size of the IGA. before its addition, said William S.

Norm Clanton who also lives on Route 2 said, "I'm concerned that our neighborhood is torn up to put this in there, only to find that it's not a financially advantageous spot... and in three years we will have a big white elephant out there."

I'm talking with real tenants (and) 20 year commitments," Dogan said, "They've done their market

Sunday River, I think they're going to be sadly disappointed," said Taylor. "Most of the people coming to Sunday River bring their own food."

"They are not counting on Sunday River at all," Dogan said. "They are counting demographics, using strictly the year round population." Abutter Don Chase said, "It seems like this whole thing, when it turns out, is just going to be a failure." Dogan said, "I have never, ever

Woodstock 175th birthday celebration

Incorporated in 1815, the Town of Woodstock will celebrate its 175th birthday this weekend with three days of fireworks, parades and dancing. Other birthday activities will include a "whatever" boat parade on Lake Christopher, open to whoever and whatever can float its way out to the small island. (Note: the boat parade will be held at 3 p.m. Saturday and replaces the candlelight parade originally scheduled for that evening.) And on Sunday there will be a dedication of the town's ballfields, followed by an Old Timers' ball game The events have been organized by the town's 175th Birthday Committee. Committee Chairman Pam House said that any profits from the celebration will go toward municipal improvements.

House said a number of other organizations have pitched in to make he celebration a success. "Our goal is a fun-filled weekend for everyone," she said.

The complete schedule of events is listed on page 16.

BATTER UP—Greenwood's Timmy Hebert passes up this offering during Monday's semi-final Little League game between Greenwood and Andover. Number 2 seeded Greenwood prevailed, and will face the top-seeded Bethel Red Sox in the championship game Thursday, August 2. The game will be played at the Locke Mills field, starting at 5:30.

BY BARBARA ADAMS In an effort to end any confusion town officials or residents have concerning laws relating to property assessments, the selectmen voted July 17 to send Administrative Assistant Rebecca Schachter to a week-long course in assessing at the University of Maine in Orono.

The selectmen had voted at their last meeting not to send her. Their reversal was prompted in part by Schacter, who told selectmen that she found several recent instances of people taking their land out of tree growth but not paying the penalty required by the state.

Schachter said following the meeting that the laws relating to tree growth are complex and some residents may have been given incorrect information in the past and may not know that there are penalties involved. She said she knew of two or three instances in which the penalties were not assessed and that she will be reviewing the town's records to see if

HIS WEEK AT THE

The irony of the outcry

The Bethel Planning Board has before it two major site plan review applications, one for Twitchell Brook Mall on Route 2 north of Bethel village and one for Bethel Park Apartments, right in the heart of the

The planning board held a public hearing on the proposed shopping mall last week. Two dozen people attended, voicing their opposition—from concerns about flooding to spoiling the natural beauty of the area to quesitoning the financial viability of the project.

We expect the same kind of outcry at the planning board meeting tonight, with the official Bethel Park Apartments application on the table. The Bethel Park Apartments project is a 48-unit affordable apartment complex on a seven-acre lot behind Broad Street. Drainage will be a problem, people are saying, as will the increased traffic on Mason Street, as will the addition of 48 housing units on municipal services, particularly schools. In the instance of the shopping mall, the developers have worked with the planning board and with the planning board's consultants to design a project that appears—at least on paper— to meet the requirements of the site plan review ordinance.

We expect in the instance of the housing project, the developers will also meet the ordinance requirements. So what are all these people objecting to-really?

Obviously, they are objecting to where, where being Not In My Back

It appears there's just a slim wedge of irony emerging here. In 1969 the people of Bethel voted against reinstating a zoning ordinance in their town. That vote left the planning board with its hands

When a townspeople says, 'You can't tell me what I can and can't build where,' which is essentially what the vote said, the flip side always, eventually, arises: They can't tell other people what they can and can't build where.

Though the Site Plan Review Ordinance alleviates some of that flip side, it can't do what the people are now asking the planning board to do, which is to tell these developers to build their projects someplace

As peculiar as it may sound, as times change, change is necessary in order for things to remain the same

With Sunday River Skiway drawing thousands of cars each winter weekend up Route 2, it's only a matter of time before strip development takes over. With even marginal large lots in the village area, close to schools and shopping and town sewer and water, it is inevitable that high-density housing will eventually be built.

And it may already be too late to stop it—assuming, of course, that the majority of Bethel residents want to stop it. Whatever the desire of the majority of the residents, the town should be getting itself into a pro-active position rather than the present reactive position.

The economy is in a major slump right now; development is nearly at a standstill in most areas. Now is the time to be preparing for the return of the economic upswing—because, whether six months or six years down the road, it will come.

Now is the time, not only for Bethel residents but for all the area residents, to decide what kind of communities they want. -CCC

Moses Mason House

All members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society are reminded that the next monthly meeting will be held on Thursday, Aug. 2, in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Featured speaker for the evening will be Dr. Richard Judd, Assistant Professor of History at the University of Maine, Orono, who will make a presentation on the history of tourism in Maine. A native of Michigan, Dr. Judd received his undergraduate education at California State University, Fullerton, Calif. He receive his M.A. in history there as well as a Ph. New lake protection rules adopted proximately 3,000 lakes and ponds in Maine Land Use Regulation Commission's jurisdiction have been adopted by unanimous vote of the commission's seven citizen

According to Land Use Regulation Commission Director David Boulter, the rules place certain lakes in special management categories, establish new development standards for the shoreline frontage and setbacks and enable landowners to develop lake concept plans to manage development of

"This is a major step toward pro-tecting Maine's high value lake resources. These rules establish a comprehensive approach to lake management that will over time, pay very big dividends," Boulter accommodate more development. The lake concept plan element of the program creates a process whereby landowners with extensive frontage on one or several lakes may propose a comprehensive plan for the frontage. The plan must balance development of some areas with protection of others. The new development standards set by the rules require shoreline frontage of 200 feet per dwelling, and a 100 foot shoreline setback. This is in line with recent changes to the state's shoreland zoning for

The adoption of the lake rules culminates nearly five years of commission effort to provide protection suited to the unique character and resources of Maine's wildland lakes. An assessment of all the lakes begun in 1986 resulted in rating each lake in seven different resource categories: for fisheries, wildlife, scenic shoreland, botanic, physical and cultural resources.

Management Class 1 lakes are high value, least accessible, underdeveloped lakes. It is the Commission's goal to preserve the best examples of these pristine lakes in their natural state by prohibiting development within 1/4 mile of these lakes. Existing timber harvesting standards are currently considered sufficient to protect the values associated with these lakes from forest management activities. A number of lakes that meet the criteria for Management Class 1 are not designed as such because they are already protected through remote pond zoning.

Management Class 2 lakes are high value, accessible, undeveloped lakes. The Commission intends to conserve the special values of these lakes by significantly restric-ting the density and intensity of development. These restrictions will be applied to the area within 500 feet of the lakeshore to enable the Commission to regulate back lot development which could affect the lake's special lake. Soils were not considered in the designation of these lakes due to lack of information, and may affect the appropriateness of this designation for some lakes. Plan for areas within the jurisdiction of the Maine LURC.

The Commission supports additional responsible developnent around Class 3 lakes, yet resource values are conserved. The Commission will waive the adjacency criterion for development proposals on these lakes provided it can be demonstrated to its satisfaction by clear and convincing evidence that the lake has no existing or potential water quality problems and that soils are suitable for development. This waiver is strictly limited to shoreland, and proximate areas may not subsequently use shoreland development on Class 3 lakes to meet the adjacency criterion.

Management Class 4 lakes are high value, developed lakes. The Commission's goal for these lakes is to allow a reasonable level of residential and recreational development while conserving natural resource values and maintaining undeveloped shoreland areas. The Commission will take special care in evaluating and regulating new subdivisions proposed on these lakes and will require cluster development to protect natural values except where clearly inappropriate due to site characteristics.

Management Class 5 consists of heavily developed lakes. The Commission seeks to maintain natural qualities associated with these lakes, enhance scenic values, and retain some undeveloped shoreline by requiring cluster development on these lakes except where clearly inappropriate due to site characteristics. The Commission has values and is consistent with the management intent of identified lakes approaching heavily developed status and Taylor asked if the speed limit in the area would be reduced. She cited two bad traffic accidents, one in 1987 and one last winter.

DuBois said Bill Bray, who has in the past done work for the town, had been hired by Dogan Associates to do a traffic analysis. The developers said neither a speed limit reduction nor a traffic light were being considered. Schools said, "I think we've tossed these accidents off in rather a flip manner." She cited three people who had been either badly injured or killed in traffic accidents in the area. All, she said, had been on icy roads.

"You're absolutely right about the value of human life," DuBois said. "But we are trying to use valid methods to design this project safely." Along other lines, one man asked, "Just for jollies, why do you want to build in a damned flood plain?"

DuBois said, "We like the location, and the soils, when it's not flooded, are excellent." Terry Perry, who used to live in the area of the proposed mall, asked

Bethel police report

On Friday, July 20 at 3:03 p.m. a Paradise Road resident reported a dirt bike being ridden by male juveniles on lower Paradise Road, Evergreen Road and Bethel Inn

Condo Drive. At 9:20 a.m. police received a report from a California couple that, while driving on Route 2 just east of the Northwest Bethel Road the driver heard a loud "Pouf," and, upon stopping, found that a window directly behind his door had shattered and blown into the club cab. Police believe the window may have been broken by a rock thrown by a lawn mower. On Thursday, July 19 at 6:19 p.m. a New Hampshire tractor-trailer truck driver reported his truck had damaged the railroad tracks on Lower Main Street and asked police to contact the railroad. At 6:30 p.m. the railroad dispatcher told police that all trains would be held up until the tracks were repaired. The railroad blocked off Lower Main Street at 7 a.m. Friday to repair the tracks.

At 8 p.m. a Spring Street resident reported kids skateboarding too close to his house early in the morning and late at night. At 2:35 p.m. a Skillings Road resident asked for police permission to tow an unregistered farm trailer to Chapman Street to prepare it as a float for the Mollyockett Day parade. At 1:57 p.m. a Route 26 resident reported a theft sometime in the previous two weeks of various tems, including a handgun, jewelry, rings, a telescope and a TV from a storage shed. At 11:30 a.m. a Chapman Street resident reported what seemed to be damage to the skateboarding Galway; second place, 1756 points, ramp behind the Bethel Inn Con-Jim Catlin; third place, 817 points, ference Center. Police checked with a couple of skateboarders and All three of the leaders are from determined the ramp was okay. At 11:13 a.m. a Rhode Island Organizer Blaine Mills reports that woman reported that she was downtown when a young man bumped into her from behind. A short time later, she found about $400 in assorted bills missing from an envelope in her purse.

At 7:58 a.m. police received a report of an attempted break-in at the bus garage on Lower Main

On Tuesday, July 17 at 3 p.m. a Bryant Pond man called police regarding a phone call he had received from a Dick Austin of the American Federation of Police magazine. Austin reportedly told the man if he bought an advertisement in the magazine, part of the money would be given to local police departments and police programs, such as DARE. Police told the man to call the Maine Attorney General's Office.

At 5:40 p.m. police attempted to assist a motorist at Gould Academy who had locked his keys in his car. The attempt was unsuccessful and a locksmith had to be called.

At 9:30 p.m. police assisted a motorist on Route 2 in West Bethel who was having problems with her car's generator.

On Monday, July 16 at 11:58 p.m. Route 2 (Mayville) resident reported a truck idling at a turn off on the road was keeping people awake. The truck operator agreed to move the vehicle to a rest area on Route 2 east of the Sunday River

At 10 a.m. an Albany resident reported children playing in the fountain at the Common. On Sunday, July 15 at 1:45 a.m. police assisted a motorist on Route 2 who was having problems with her car alternator. On Saturday, July 14 at 6:20 p.m. a Broad Street resident reported the theft of a sign from his lawn. On July 16 he reported it had been recovered.

How to use our factory stores:

1. If you don't understand the pricing, just ask. The discounts we offer are from 35 to 65% off our regular prices, and sometimes we mark down an item several times. So look for the latest markdown.

2. If at first you don't find your size, try looking one or two sizes above and below. We probably do have your size—only sometimes sizes get mixed together.

3. Leave yourself plenty of time to explore. You never know what you'll find. Some of our items are out-of-season or discontinued from our catalog. But you always can find a wide variety of first-quality items, samples, factory seconds and slightly imperfect products at substantial savings from regular prices. Plus everything in our factory stores is 100% guaranteed when you return it with your receipt.

4. Visit us often and when other people don't. All of our stores receive truckloads weekly, so there's always a new selection. The best shopping is when it's quiet-mornings right after we open and evenings during and after dinner.

5. Get to know your local factory store, and visit the others when you have the chance. Each store is different, and all will surprise you. Freeport receives deliveries daily, so the bins, shelves and racks are restocked constantly with fresh items. North Conway was our first factory store, and they receive shipments several times a week. You can find discounted sporting equipment, and sometimes furniture, on the second floor. Ellsworth is our newest store. The best days to shop here are Tuesday and Friday, right after weekly

New boat dock in Harrison

HARRISON—The Decker Corp. of Harrison has announced the completion of a new 24-slip boat dock at its corporate headquarters located on the shore of Long Lake, known locally as the Harrison Insurance Agency. The dock, designed by Continental Docks of Auburn, is made of environmentally safe fiberglass, according to corporate Vice President Stan Harmon. The 24 slips are available for seasonal rental or for shorter periods, such as weekly or monthly, said corporation President Peter Connell.

Wind turbines to top mountain peaks

WESTERN MOUNTAINS—As many as 60, 100-foot tall wind turbines may be built somewhere in the mountainous region of Oxford and Franklin counties within five years by a New Gloucester firm interested in converting wind tree in which the two nested last year was the same one in which eagles last

Harley Lee, president of Endless Energy Corp., said earlier this month he plans to erect the commercial wind powerturbines to generate electricity for Central Maine Power Co., which has a demonstration contract with Lee's population.

Endless Energy must demonstrate to the power company that it can bring on line and actually generate electricity, said Clark Irwin, CMP supervisor of Lee has conducted feasibility studies on Sugarloaf Mountain at Carrabassett Valley since December 1988, including measuring wind speed and turbulence. While the results of the studies are confidential, they are apparently encouraging; Lee is now in the process of selecting a site.

Sugarloaf Mountain was the original choice, but now that the Sugarloaf Mountain Corp. is "tied up with trying to sell the company, they've put it on the back burner," Lee said, noting that other possible sites are all in the Western Mountains. About three miles of ridgeline, the high area of moun the wind, are needed for the 60 turbines, which have 92-foot rotor diameters, The huge turbines will generate 15 megawatts of electricity and produce between 500,000 and 1 million kilowatt hours per year. That amount would serve about 150 households per turbine each year, he said.

Bank keeps Bear Pond Park

NORTH TURNER—Bear Pond Park, which has been in buisness 50 years in North Turner, was put on the auction block July 7. It appeared that five bidders took part in the sale, which lasted less than 30 minutes and was attended by about 40 townspeople. The auctioneer asked for an opening bid of $600,000, but bidding started substantially lower. At the conclusion of the sale, Androscoggin Savings Bank current owner of the property—bought the property back for $545,000 when the requested opening bid was not reached.

The shorefront park that for many years was a major gathering place for area youngsters was purchased by Ralph and Elizabeth Simpson about four years ago. The couple began construction on a recreation vehicle park, which was never opened, and a plan for a proposed mobile home park on the property was withdrawn from the local approval process in 1989.

Earlier this year, Androscoggin Savings Bank gave official notice of foreclosure on the Simpson's loan and the subsequent auction. It was not clear following the auction what will be done with the property, although local and state shoreland zoning ordinances will limit the options for the beachfront. The acreage that goes with the park, however, does not have all the same restrictions and limitations. A proposal in June that the town purchase the property was not feasible, according to selectmen, due to the town's current financial condition. The funds for such a purchase, if available, would have to be approved by voters at a special town meeting, selectmen stated.

The park, in addition to the beach, has a snack bar, arcade, go-cart track and miniature golf course. It did not open for business this season.

Naturalists band eagle chicks

MAGALLOWAY RIVER—Two bald eagle chicks, the first wild-born eaglets to survive this long in the State of New Hampshire in about 40 years, were banded earlier this month by naturalists who now plan to sit back and let nature take

"It went very well, very well indeed," said Iain MacLeod, spokesperson for the Audubon Society of New Hampshire. "Both chicks are very healthy." MacLeod said Mike Amarole of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service climbed a tree on a small island in the Magalloway River near Lake Umbagog to reach the six-week old eaglets and put identification bands on their legs. Amarole reported that "the chicks looked really well, no signs of any parasite," MacLeod said. But it's too early to tell whether they are male or female.

The parent eagles are the first to nest in New Hampshire since 1949. The The Audubon Society, the Fish and Wildlife Service and the state Fish and

Ski resort auction nets $7 million

WATERVILLE VALLEY—All 103 ski area condominiums on the auction block July 11 in Waterville Valley were snatched up by eager bidders, some of whom paid $115,000 less than the original asking price.

The auction at Golden Eagle Lodge netted nearly $7 million, said Tom Corcoran, president of Golden Eagle Associates, which owns the condos. "It wasn't as good as I had hoped, but that's still a lot of money, any way you look at it," Corcoran said after the four-hour auction that he said drew 1,400 people, including 362 registered bidders.

Eagle Lodge's experience is becoming more common in the region as new ski-area condo sales reflect the financial trouble facing resort developers. In the year or so since the Golden Eagle Lodge opened, only 36 of the 139 units were sold outright. The remianing units were sold to 98 individual buyers during the no-minimum auction, Corcoran said. He said there were also 75 reserve bidders who would fill in if any of the deals didn't go through. Corcoran said the sale prices ranged from $50,000 for a furnished one-bedroom apartment to $149,000 for a two-bedroom, for which the original asking prices were from about $95,000 to $264,000, repsectively.

"In any event, these were obviously great bargains," said Corcoran, a former Olympic skier who also is president of the Waterville Company, Inc. "We've got 103 very happy new owners in Waterville Valley." Corcoran said he believed the Eagle Lodge auction represented the largest number of units sold at any one time in the region, where the slow economy is making it hard for developers to unload property built in anticipation of boom-

OXFORD COUNTY—A hazardous materials cleanup team from Boise Cascade in Rumford will be assisting Oxford County in emergencies involving such substances if liability insurance and other details are worked out satisfactorily between the county and Boise officials. Local Emergency Planning Committee Chairman Eugene Boivin said at an LEPC meeting Tuesday that county commissioners will need to provide liability insurance coverage to free the approximately 35-member volunteer Boise HAZ-MAT team from responsibility during emergencies that take place off Boise

Jim Olsen, a Boise official, stressed that, even if the county and Boise sign Cascade property. a contract, town fire departments must understand that the paper company's hazardous materials team would not be a first responder in emergencies. The team, consisting of Boise employee volunteers, would be called to the scene of an emergency by firefighters and would be responsible for the technical removal of hazardous materials, he said. Local fire departments and police would be responsible for initial response and securing the scene of an accident until the HAZMAT crew arrives, Olsen said. Boivin told firefighters and others attending Tuesday's meeting the LEPC has a six-hour training video available for local fire departments to teach firefighters and police how to protect themselves from injury from hazardous materials, and how to support a HAZMAT team. To date no fire departments have asked for the training materials, said Boivin, who recently retired as Rumford's fire chief.

County agrees MDOT can bid paving

OXFORD COUNTY—Oxford County commissioners July 17 agreed to allow the Maine Department of Transportation to advertise bids for paving work on Andover B Hill Road for work to be scheduled for next year.

A representative from the area MDOT office in Dixfield telephoned Oxford County Administrative Assistant Carole Mahoney to ask if the county wanted to allow MDOT to bid for the rural county road between Andover and Rumford while bidding for paving work on Routes 2 and 5 near Andover. The "piggy back" bidding could save the county money by using a contractor whose equipment is already in the area. County Treasurer William Perkins told commissioners some contractors are having financial difficulties due to the business slump plaguing Maine and that "piggy backing" would help contractors work more efficiently while saving money for the county.

Commissioners instructed Mahoney to pursue the matter with MDOT. The commission also agreed to pay $1,870 as the county's share of running the boundary line between Newry and Riley with the state paying the remainder. Mahoney said it is her understanding that the line hasn't been re-marked since back and get the message later. What a nice afternoon I spent with my cousins at their camp on Twitchell Pond this last week. The main sounds we could hear were the chug-chug of hoats. And the full calls of Phoebe birds, as they came and went from the eves of the porch, as they fed their

Three cheers for summer. Squirrels are tiptoeing through ferns and all birds are caring for their young. We were having fun. We lingered in the beauty of this pond so framed by trees. Just beyond the camp at the left of the road, there rises steeply a huge cliff. From the road where we strolled toward the beach it's a breathtaking view. Down the front of this gigantic, granitic rock exposed to the weather and where the rock-face is weakest, there are fracture lines and signs of fallen granite. Growing in the soil that collects in the rock crevices, trees have taken root, which have widened the cracks, breaking up the

As we walked, the blue chasm that was our goal seemed to grow grayer-deeper. Finally we pushed through a clump of trees and came out on ledges at the water's edge. The beach was sandy. It was so quiet here; more than guiet; it was utterly still like velvet-interior of a jewel box. Velvet. That word brought to mind the carpet of moss at my feet. My mind and eyes made a rapid adjustment to the beauty of the scenes before me. I captured some of them on film. Then we went on our way once more. But not before a little boat laden low, purred on by nosing out toward the opposite shore. There the blue was sliced in two. A mirror sphere, in the sun's glass bowl, while beyond, there lay the jagged blades of black spruce. Toothbrush: Brushing the teeth at least once a day helps remove plaque which accumulates on the teeth. Brushing also stimulates the gums and removes dead tissue. Discuss brush bristle hardness with your dentist or dental hygienist.

Dental Floss: Floss or dental tape removes plaque that is not removed by brushing. Flossing also aids in the removal of food particles which lodge between the teeth and produce bad breath.

Fluoride: The mineral fluoride has been shown in numerous studies to prevent the development of cavities. This mineral can be applied directly to the teeth by way of fluoride-containing rinses and toothpastes.

Disclosing Tablets: The tablets, which contain a reddye, are chewed and the resulting solution is swished around in the mouth. The dye sticks to the coloriess plaque. The teeth and gums are brushed and flossed until the red dye is gone. When the dye is removed, the plaque is removed as well.

So. Woodstock By OLIVE R. DAVIS

Marta Clements has recently returned from a trip to France. Marta was part of a group tour with high school students and chaperones from SAD #17. Six days were spent in Paris visiting many famous sights. Four days were spent in northern France. The group toured cathedrals and chateaux of the Loire Valley, visited the D Day Museum and the American Military Cemetery in Arromaches, Normandy, and climbed to the top of the Abbey at Mont St. Michel.

The group also visited Giverny to see the home and gardens of the artist, Claude Monet. The itinerary was planned and organized by Nancy Chadbourne, a French teacher in SAD #17 and American Education Travel and was a total success. Mr. and Mrs. James Miclon spent a few days this week at the Hastings Camping Area. They had beautiful weather and enjoyed the change. Esther Davis attended the memorial service held for Mildred York at the Universalist Church Thursday afternoon. The Tri-Town personnel attended in a body. The Tri-Town had a sale on Emery's lawn Saturday. The Willing Workers met July 11 to make plans for a supper they are putting on July 27 from 5:30-6. This is in honor of the 175th anniversary of Woodstock. From 7:30 a variety show will be given upstairs in the Grange Hall. Keep these programs in mind. They promise to be good. There will be fireworks at the athletic field at 10 p.m. The programs are out so get one so you can know what is going on. You don't want to miss anything.

Mollyockett Day 1990...

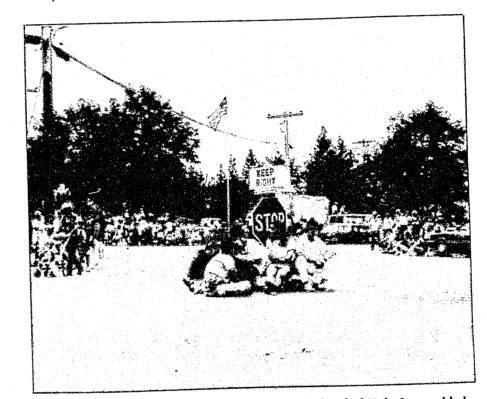

2ND PLACE winners in the Mollyockett Day Parade were the Bethel Boy Scouts.

RECYCLE, AND ENJOY EARTH LONGER—urged this prize-winning entry in the float parade.

GOOD OLDE SUMMERTIME was a natural first place theme for the Bethel Rotary Club's float.

BEST SEAT IN THE HOUSE—The stop sign at the head of Main St. provided a great vantage point for these parade viewers.

THE FLOATS ROLLED BY LARGE AND SMALL

FROM PULP TRUCK TO PRESS RUN—The vehicle chosen by Bethel's members of the fourth estate symbolized how much of the local economy rolls along on the back of the woods-products industry. The scribes denied, however, that their float's color scheme (basic yellow) reflected in any way on the quality of journalism practiced hereabouts.

WELL GOT OUT-these three young anglers came dressed for the sometimes stormy weather.

THE FACE BEHIND THE MASK—Jerry Bernier, 11, of the Bethel Red Sox, is ready to sacrifice his body for the team as he unflinchingly awaits the next high and hard wiffle ball.

COUNTRY MUSIC provided a perfect background for fairgoing.

SIZZLIN' GOOD—Scott Dennis kept the steaks coming.

ROTARY AUCTION—It was standing room only last Friday night at the annual Rotary Club auction, held in the cafeteria at Telstar. The auction, which started at 6:30 p.m. with Rotarian David Murphy as auctioneer, ended about six hours later, with Murphy still as auctioneer. The auction raised $8,500 for the local group.

IT WOULDN'T BE A FAIR without lots of kids and balloons.

SPINNING SWEETS—Edith Kenney of Skowhegan spins her cotton candy for sale to the sweet of tooth.

NO SOAP—The fountain was dry for this year's fair, and the nearby craftspeople could breath easier—since they didn't have to worry about the water works of the young and mischievous.

10K Stark Trek VII race set for Aug. 4

The 1990 Stark Trek VII 10K (6.2 mile) Road Race will be held at 9 a.m. on Saturday, Aug. 4, at the Conway Village Green in Conway, N.H. According to Race Director David

Sporcic, over 300 runners from throughout New England are expected to participate in this premier running event to benefit the Mt. Washington Valley Ski Team. The race is certified by the Athletic

Congress (TAC), sanctioned by the Road Runners Club of America, hosted by the White Mt. Milers, with timing and results by Granite State Race Services. The Stark Trek 10K is run on paved two-lane scenic country roads with moderate hills in the first half and flat or downhill grades in the second half. Racer pre-registration of $12 ($14 race day) includes professional timing on a certified course, buffet lunch, raffle, long sleeve t-shirts for those preregistered by July 31 and individual awards for the first five finishers in seven men's and women's age categories and the first three finishers for the overall men's and women's teams.

The Nathan H. Smith Memorial Fun Run for the children ages two to 12 will be run in conjunction with the Stark Starting at 8 a.m. sharp, the quarter-mile and one-mile race will be held in Leader Mary Clark Webster to examine key issues facing the state.

Said Webster, "Whether we are the parents of young children or retirees on fixed income, we are all concerned about availability of healthcare and our ability to pay for it. It is one of the benchmarks of responsive society and I wanted people on this task force who had a broad range of experience to provide important input. That's why I chose Al Barth." Barth is a retired educator, tree and Red House Management Service, farmer and is a member of the school board. Said Barth, "I am excited about contributing to this important work. I believe Maine people may not fully understand the complexity of health care and the cost associated with it. This is my opportunity to learn and to incorporate my own ideas at the same time. We have vital work to do."

The Healthcare Task Force will complete its work in the next eight weeks and the findings will lead to Republican initiatives to the Legislature in January.

Horse show, Wildman Biathlon set for Aug. 12 in Shelburne held at the horse ring located behind the Shelburne Town Garage. This will be an all-day event, rain or shine. A number of trophies will be presented following the day's event.

Also on Saturday one of the outstanding events will be the "Wildman Biathlon," which made its successful debut last summer.

A challenging single-day, multisport event, the biathlon is the brainchild of Moriah Sports owner, Mike Micucci of Gorham, N.H. It combines running, biking and mountain climbing, with the first event (a 10K footrace) beginning in Shelburne on the scenic North Road.

The footrace is followed by a 40K bike race from Shelburne to the top of Pinkham Notch. While the 10K footrace is noted for its quiet, off-thebeaten-track surroundings, the bike race is remarkable for the scenery of New Hampshire's Presidential Mountain Range. In the final two miles of the bike race, the total elevation gain

Hospitality, the entertainment of strangers or sojourners as guests, was considered a sacred duty in Biblical times. Summer is the time in Bethel when we formally practice hospitality. Last week there was high excitement as we prepared for Mollyockett Day, when we would entertain many folks from out of town. People worked together to create floats for the parade. Other folks gathered together their artistic and culinary creations for booths. Children selected the highest, longest jumping frogs they could find. Joggers ran around Bethel preparing for the races. Fiddlers practised for the contest. Perhaps some muscles strengthened for the lumberjack competition. And food. Groups planned and purchased and made ready all the food everyone could possibly need or want. Food is essential to hospitality. Satiated, we could 'oh' and 'ah' as the fireworks lit up the sky. Mollyockett Day we make up for the lack of fireworks on Independence Day.

STATE OF MAINE _ DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

NOTICE OF PROPOSED CONSTRUCTION REGARDING PROPOSED REPLACEMENT OF FIRST BRIDGE OVER POND STREAM IN THE TOWN OF HANOVER, OXFORD COUNTY STATE PROJECT NO. 4588.00

The Maine Department of Transportation through its Bureau of Project Development is planning to replace the deficient First Bridge over Pond Stream located 1.08 miles northerly of U.S. Route 2 in Hanover with a 20 foot span structural concrete slab founded on concrete abutments on ledge featuring a 27 foot wide roadway with concrete wearing surface and curb-mounted steel beam guardrail. Approximately 625 feet of approaches will be reconstructed to provide two 10-foot wide paved travel lanes with 3-foot gravel shoulders beginning about 400 feet southerly of the bridge and ending about ly thereof. Stage construction will provide for maintenance of alternating oneway traffic during the period of construction. Work contemplated under this project will involve the filling of wetlands. A plan of the proposed improvements is available for public inspection at the Hanover Town Office during normal business hours. All comments concerning this project and its proposed design should be directed to the attention of James Chandler, Bridge Design Engineer, Maine Department of Transportation, Design Division, State House Station #16,
